

ROLE OF MODERN LANGUAGE LABORATORIES IN TEACHING-LEARNING AND COMMUNICATION SKILLS

Dr. Shikha Goyal

Assoc. Prof. in English, JCD Memorial P.G
College, Sirsa

Dr. Poonam Punia

Asst. Prof. in English, JCD Memorial P.G
College, Sirsa

Ms. Kanta Rohilla

Lecturer in English, JCD Polytechnic, Sirsa

Abstract

Communication has always been a key factor in all facets of life. In the era of globalization as well as modern technology, English language has come out as the language of global communication. Hence, skills in English language have become essential for both a person's personal and professional growth. Communication skills in English language can be mastered by mastering the four skills of language i.e. LRSW namely listening, speaking, reading and writing and with some basic knowledge of grammar, which form the base a language. Modern language laboratories, fully equipped with modern technologies, have played a vital role in mastering these language learning skills and preparing the students for not only placement or campus interviews but also for informal and formal situations like- group discussions, personal interviews, meetings, presentations, etc. which form a part of their professional orb. This paper focuses on the significant role of language lab in teaching and communication skills.

Keywords: Language Laboratory, Communication Skills, Modern Technology, Globalization Communication.
